Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 103

The following is a quotation of 35 U.S.C. 103(a) which forms the basis for all obviousness rejections set forth in this Office action:

(a) A patent may not be obtained though the invention is not identically disclosed or described as set forth in section 102 of this title, if the differences between the subject matter sought to be patented and the prior art are such that the subject matter as a whole would have been obvious at the time the invention was made to a person having ordinary skill in the art to which said subject matter pertains. Patentability shall not be negated by the manner in which the invention was made.

Claims 1-13 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 103(a) as being unpatentable over Furukawa et al US 6114582, Shell et al DN 96:40926, Chiou et al DN 118:247588 and/or Bodor et al DN 127:325913.

Furukawa et al teach hydroxyphenylalkylamine compounds as recited in the claims. See, for example, column 4 lines 5-47 where R¹ is alkoxy, R² is hydrogen, R³ is alkoxy or halogen, R⁴ is hydroxyl and R⁵ is hydrogen. Shell et al DN 96:40926, Chiou et al DN 118:247588 and/or Bodor et al DN 127:325913 all teach analogous compounds for use in treating glaucoma. See the respective abstracts.

Applicants' comments have been noted and considered. The references differ in having hydrogen instead of methyl in the position corresponding to the 4 position of applicants' formula I, e.g.,

However, the replacement of methyl with a hydrogen atom is normally within the sphere of obviousness that surrounds the known compound. In re Wood 199 USPQ 137. In the instant case, modification of closely structurally related compounds would be expected to maintain the pharmacological activity i.e. reasonable expectation of success. This is particularly true where the utilities of such closely structurally related compounds are the same, i.e. they treat intraocular pressure.

Applicants remarks regarding the compounds on page 3 of the previous office action are noted.

Applicants' comments and the Affidavit submitted under 35 USC 1.132 have been noted and considered but are not deemed persuasive of patentability.

Regarding applicants' comments on predicted activity, it is noted that no reliable data was submitted to support a nexus between 5-HT of 5-HT₃ receptors and the treatment of glaucoma. The reference submitted with the affidavit appears directed to central nervous system treatment. Further, claims 9-13 are directed to compounds and would be obvious, due to their close structural relationship, notwithstanding the intended use.

No claim is allowed.

THIS ACTION IS MADE FINAL. Applicant is reminded of the extension of time policy as set forth in 37 CFR 1.136(a).

A shortened statutory period for reply to this final action is set to expire THREE MONTHS from the mailing date of this action. In the event a first reply is filed within TWO MONTHS of the mailing date of this final action and the advisory action is not mailed until after the end of the THREE-MONTH shortened statutory period, then the shortened statutory period will expire on the date the advisory action is mailed, and any extension fee pursuant to 37 CFR 1.136(a) will be calculated from the mailing date of the advisory action. In no event, however, will the statutory period for reply expire later than SIX MONTHS from the mailing date of this final action.
